Membership Application Information

Newcastle Reform Synagogue is a constituent member of the Movement for Reform Judaism. Membership of Newcastle Reform Synagogue is open to all Jewish people. For our purposes, this means anyone who was born to a Jewish mother or who has converted to Judaism under the auspices of any authority recognised by the Movement for Reform Judaism.

All applications for membership are referred to our Rabbi. The synagogue requires that the Rabbi be satisfied that the applicant is eligible for membership. In most cases, the Rabbi will ask to see documents which establish Jewish status. Examples would include a parents' ketubah (Synagogue marriage certificate), or a certificate of conversion. In the event of any doubt regarding Jewish status, an opinion may be sought from the Beit Din (Rabbinical Court) of the Movement for Reform Judaism, which the Synagogue recognises as the authority in such matters.

When the Rabbi is satisfied that an applicant is Jewish, the membership application is presented to the Synagogue Council for approval. Once approved, the Synagogue Treasurer will send the applicant information about membership, including the optional funeral expenses scheme, and a request for payment of subscriptions. In the event of financial hardship, applicants/members should consult the Treasurer. All information relating to membership, including financial information, is treated as strictly confidential.

The Synagogue Council, acting in consultation with its Rabbi and the Movement for Reform Judaism, reserves the right to refuse an application for membership or to terminate an existing membership. While always seeking to act in good faith and with due regard to natural justice, the Synagogue Council is not obliged to give reasons for its decisions.
